

I am looking forward to being emerged in the Chatter Show riding community it's an amazing group of people who are extremely talented and care for those who want to get into a true and form.

I am excited about going on more rides with more of our community. I'm excited to actually be able to go up to a mountain with all my own gear and have the confidence to ride down with the squad but also by myself.

Showboarding has the ability to give my inner child a space to explore learn be supported and loved on; it's one of the avenues that allow me to feel completely present and living in the moment and I love it.
 I love the freedom and the softness that snowboarding allows for.
 Chatter has been the light at the end of the tunnel. I've been dreaming of snowboarding since I was a kid and it was never something I thought I could access. I was literally about to give up trying to get gear or even ride when I found out that Chatter had the ability to get me everything I needed and connected me with those who fully got me kitted out. Chatter has helped a Native be able to have urban rides in parks that I used to play in as a child it's kind of amazing.

WHAT'S NEXT?

More events!

Chatter aims to create a network of care and friendship. BEFORE they get on hill. Our meetups make time for new and experienced riders+skiers to swap gear and become friends. Chatter is more than just getting started on snow. gear donations, and on snow mentors. through community allies.

HOW DO WE DO IT?

HOW WE STARTED

chatter started 3 summers ago when a group of friends wanted more queer friends on the mountain. best way to do that?
